

Legislative Recap: Week of February 25th

This week was a busy week at the Tennessee General Assembly as committees debated many bills and continued to hear presentations from various state departments and organizations. Next week, Governor Lee will deliver his first State of the State address during a Joint Convention of the General Assembly and will unveil his first budget proposal.

Senator Briggs and Representative C. Sexton are sponsoring legislation that aims to protect Tennesseans from deceptive legal commercials related to medical devices or pharmaceuticals. SB352/HB352 would protect patients by requiring a proper warning to patients that it is dangerous to stop taking a prescribed medication before consulting with a physician. The measure passed in the Senate by a 24-6 vote this week and will be heard in the House Consumer Subcommittee next week.

Senator Bailey and Representative T. Hill are sponsoring legislation that directs the governor, through the commissioner of finance and administration, to submit a waiver amendment to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to provide TennCare II funding by means of block grants. If the federal government rejects the state's block grant proposal, TN lawmakers plan go back to the drawing board. HB1280 passed out of the House TennCare subcommittee on Wednesday and will be heard in the House Insurance Committee next Tuesday.

Ahead of his State of the State address, Governor Lee announced several new initiatives this week. Governor Lee plans to dedicate $15 million of the state's budget to address mental illness in Tennessee. He is proposing $11.2 million in new funding to expand access to services for Tennesseans who suffer from mental illness. The investment will address increasing costs at the state's four regional mental health institutes. It will ensure that those facilities will continue to provide high quality care to Tennesseans.

Additionally, Governor Lee announced his plan for criminal justice reform which includes the following initiatives:

- Supplementing mental health efforts by expanding the recovery court system and recovery court programming
- Eliminating the $180 state expungement fee
- Expanding higher education programming for incarcerated individuals
